MESSAGE FROM THE NATIONAL PRESIDENT

Dear NARBW Members:

Here in Florida the weather has started to cool down, soon it will be time to turn off my air conditioning. I am headed to Asheville, NC, for a wedding and looking forward to seeing the fall colors and the cooler temperatures. Soon the holidays will be here, please enjoy this time with your family and friends. As NARBW sisters, I know our chapters always take care of our communities in full force during this time.

I want to thank our members and chapters that participated in our first national social event Taco Tuesday. I enjoyed seeing the pictures on our Facebook pages. I know my chapter enjoyed getting together, with our families, and learning more about each other without having to do NARBW business. I look forward to our next social event which will be sometime next quarter.

At our upcoming 2019 convention, we will be electing three national officers (National Second Vice President, National Third Vice President, and Secretary). Nominations are due to Laura Gutteridge Años, National Nominating Chair, by February 1st. To be eligible for the Vice President positions, you must have been a Chapter President and have spent at least one year on the National Board and, to be eligible for Secretary, you must have been a chapter member for at least a year. Please consider running for an office. I can assure you how rewarding it is to be on the National Board. If you have any questions, please reach out to Laura or any past or present member of the National Board. If you're ready to take that next step, we would love to see your nomination.

Our next National Convention will be here before we know it, don't forget to save the dates! The 2019 convention will be held in Atlantic City, NJ, on Sunday, May 19th – Tuesday, May 21st with the Post Convention tour on Wednesday, May 22nd. Renee Noble, National Convention Chair, has been busy making preparations for a spectacular event. I look forward to seeing you all there.

If you have any Chapter Welfare events, please send to Julie Nelson at welfare@narbw.org, and she will make sure these are posted to our National Website under the Welfare Warrior section. Any other events, stories, or photos from NARBW events, please send them to our National Publications Chair, Jasmine Manley, at publications@narbw.org. We love seeing what our NARBW sisters are doing in their communities. Don't forget to like our National Facebook page, National Association of Railway Business Women.

For those of you that may have not heard, we have selected a new webmaster, Amber Payne. Our previous webmaster, Janet Lackey, did a fantastic job for us but has moved on to a different path. We wish her luck. Check out Amber's website at www.apaynesdesigns.com, she helps small businesses and non-profits update their marketing and designs platforms. Our website is currently under construction and should be completed by late October. I am excited to see the changes. Please make sure to check it out and let us know your feedback. The Member Document section is still password protected with password of CORNELL. There is a new section for a Member Profile. I am looking forward to this as each member can upload a picture and more in-depth information about themselves.

The National Board also has selected a Social Media intern, Savanna Hubbard, from the Kansas City Chapter. I look forward to seeing how Savanna will highlight our social media platforms.

I am truly honored and excited to serve you as your National President. Thank you for your support and I am eagerly looking forward to a successful term.

Sincerely,

RESUME OF SUMMER BOARD MEETING JULY 28, 2018

On Saturday, July 28, 2018, the Summer Board meeting was called to order by President Melanie McKim at the Holiday Inn, Daytona Beach, FL.

Correspondence was received from Ms. Ashley Heroux, a social science teacher at El Camino Real Charter High School in Woodland Hills, CA. She told us about one of her 9th graders completing a project on the Department of Transportation and referenced the NARBW website and history as part of the presentation.

National Treasurer Michele Williams presented her Annual Reports followed by the Treasurer's Reports. All National Officers and Committee Chairmen presented their Plans of Work, which were discussed and approved. They will be distributed in accordance with the By-Laws.

Convention Chairman Renee Noble of the Philadelphia Chapter reported that plans for our 75th Annual Convention are underway. It will be held Monday and Tuesday, May 20-21, 2019, at Bally's Atlantic City Hotel and Casino, Atlantic City, NJ. The theme is "Jubilee by the Sea." A Post-Convention tour is being planned for Wednesday, May 22, and a choice will be offered for either Historic Cape May or Historic Philadelphia. More info to follow.

The 2020 convention will be held in Chicago. They are currently researching hotels.

The 2021 convention will be hosted by the Jacksonville Chapter.

President McKim reviewed Standing Rule 2, National President, which named a size 8 x 10 photograph, which is obsolete. A motion was made and passed to remove the phrase "size 8 x 10 inches" from Standing Rule 2, Section a.

A motion was made and passed to acquire a frame for the group photograph taken at the Kansas City Convention for placement in the Transportation Museum in Roanoke.

A search is on for a new webmaster as our current one is retiring from us on 9/1. Three bids were sought and a question list will be developed for potential companies.

President McKim reminded the Board that she wants us to set up conference calls with our Chapter counterparts throughout the year.

CHAPTER NEWS

ALBANY CHAPTER

We have two lifetime members, and very proud that one is Past National President Alice McCabe. Two members recently resigned but we are very happy to have two members rejoin NARBW. We are pleased to report that we also have two or three prospects; women who have shown an interest in joining our NARBW chapter. We are holding steady at 15 members. We had a summer full of activities. In June a pot luck picnic at a local park, in July a boat ride on the Mohawk River and in August a luncheon cruise on the Lac du Saint Sacrement on Lake George in the Adirondacks Mountains, upstate New York. We held our September meeting in a private room at a local restaurant. Our Welfare Chair, Diana Ham, collects non perishable items for a local food pantry. We remain consistent holding our meetings the second Tuesday of each month, September through June, at noon, usually at the home of a member. The hostess provides the meal and members attending each contribute $10. This is a fundraiser for us, as all of our members are retired. In that way, we normally add $90 to $100 each meeting to our Treasury. We also put a Locomotive Bank in the center of the table and we throw in our change, this, as well, adding to our Treasury. Now and then we also do a 50/50 raffle at our meetings. We are small in number but we are active and we are strong so proud to be part of NARBW. Be back to her normal routine soon.

PHILADELPHIA CHAPTER

This coming year will be very busy for our Chapter, especially, since we are hosting the '2019 Convention' in Atlantic City, NJ. We're keeping the costs down as much as possible, with the hopes that more people will be able to attend. Atlantic City is a fun resort with fine dining and the night-life entertainment is good. For those of you, who like to try their luck, the casinos can be fun, and the fresh salt air by the sea is wonderful. More detail about this Convention will be sent in the near future.

This October, we'll be hosting a 'Royal Tea' w/the same actor we used last year, only this time he will be portraying, Pres. U.S. Grant. He really is very good and resembles Ulysses S. Grant a great deal.

Another venture we're trying is a Barn Sale. We have a couple of weekend in the fall and again in the spring where one of our ladies has been taking donated quality item for this sale Also, candy sales for Christmas and the sale of spices is on-going.

At Christmas we will be donating many toys, books, etc. for a shelter for abused women & children. This is a real feel-good project.

Late October, our trees should be changing into beautiful full colors. It's worth a nice drive.

PITTSBURGH CHAPTER

We look forward to our Christmas party that will be held at Scoglio Green Tree in Pittsburgh. At our Christmas party we take in all donations for a homeless shelter as we always feel joyed about making sure they have what they need for the winter. We also enjoyed our visit from our member Joanna Kinney who comes in for the summer months to visit home. We pray that she has a safe travel back to her home in Durnham, NC, where she resides during the winter months. See you soon Joanna

ROANOKE CHAPTER

There have been a few deaths amongst some of our fellow sisters families and illnesses in our chapter, keep each of them in your prayers.

We financially supported the Angels of Assisi 'no-kill' animal shelter generously for the month of September. October we are busy with the Roanoke Rescue Mission's Christmas Card Stuffing event. We meet some wonderful people from other groups in the Roanoke Valley as well as get to spend time with our NARBW Sisters. We will participate in The Walk to End Alzheimer's. We do a Halloween Party at the Veteran's Hospital where we dress up in costumes, have food and enjoy the company of the Veterans.

Happy 50th Wedding Anniversary to Leslie Sheets and her husband on this past August 30th. His gift to her was two nights and three days in beautiful Myrtle Beach, SC, and her gift to him was two fabulous tickets to NASCAR's Darlington Raceway!

There children and grandchildren also surprised them with a "Golden" Dinner Party. They had a replica of the wedding cake pictures and so much more. It was a true "Golden Moment"

SAGINAW CHAPTER

Some of our members are in care, so let's remember to say a prayer for them. Last event was in August at Huckleberry Railroad's Railfans Weekend. Some of our members also to leave for Florida and we would like to wish them safe travels until they return.

ST. LOUIS CHAPTER

St. Louis is planning three (3) raffles: a Christmas Raffle to support local charities, a basket raffle full of kitchen items for their general treasure and in February a raffle to raise money for the National Scholarship Fund. We would like everyone to keep Vicki Kalal in your prayers who is battling cancer. We look forward to trying to increase our membership, so if you know anyone in our area send them over!!

TOPEKA CHAPTER

Our next meeting will be held in October to talk about our Christmas donations as we donate wanted/needed items to one of two charities that we contribute to annually. The Topeka chapter will be visiting Bonnie who has been tremendously missed and can't actively be a part of our monthly activities.

LEARNING CENTER

How to Win Friends and Influence People Part I

Dale Carnegie's principles from his book How to Win Friends and Influence People cover three themes: 1) Become a Friendlier Person, 2) Win People to Your Way of Thinking, and 3) Be a Leader. This quarter's learning center is going to focus on the second theme, Win People to Your Way of Thinking.

There are 12 principles in the book that are part of winning people to your way of thinking and they are listed below along with some quotes from the book illustrating why each principle is important.

1) The only way to get the best of an argument is to avoid it.

Which would you rather have, an academic theatrical victory or a person's good will? You can seldom have both. You may be right as you speed along in your argument, but, as far as changing another's mind is concerned, you will probably be just as futile as if you were wrong. Lincoln once said, "Better give your patch to a dog than be bitten by him in contesting for the right. Even killing the dog would not cure the bite."

2) Show respect for the other person's opinions. Never say, "You're Wrong".

Galileo said, "You cannot teach a man anything; you can only help him to find it within himself." Socrates said, "One thing I only know, and that is that I know nothing." I cannot hope to be any smarter than Socrates, so I must stop telling people they are wrong. Try doing that and you will find it pays. Nothing good is accomplished and a lot of damage can be done if you tell a person straight out that he or she is wrong. You only succeed in stripping that person of self-dignity and making yourself an unwelcome part of any discussion. If someone says something wrong, isn't it better to say "Well, now look. I thought otherwise, but I may be wrong. I frequently am. And if I am wrong, I want to be put right. Let's examine the facts." No one will ever object to you saying that.

3) If you are wrong, admit it quickly and emphatically.

If we know we are going to be rebuked anyhow, isn't it far better to beat the other person to it and do it ourselves? The chances are a hundred to one that a generous, forgiving attitude will be taken and your mistakes will be minimized. There is a certain degree of satisfaction in having the courage to admit one's errors. It not only clears the air of guilt and defensiveness, but often helps solve the problem created by the error. There is an old proverb that says, "By fighting you never get enough, but by yielding, you get more than you expected,"

4) Begin in a friendly way.

There is an old saying that says "A drop of honey catches more flies than a gallon of gall." Lincoln reiterated that phrase and went on to further say "So with men, if you would win a man to your cause, first convince him that you are his sincere friend. Therein is a drop in honey that catches his heart; which, say what you will, is the great high road to his reason." A friendly approach can make people change their minds more readily than all the bluster and storming in the world.

5) Get the other person saying "Yes, yes!" immediately.

Socrates used a technique that is called today the Socratic method. He asked questions of his opponent that his opponent would have to agree with. He kept on winning one admission over another until he had an armful of yeses. He kept on asking questions until finally, almost without realizing it, his opponents found themselves embracing a conclusion they would have bitterly denied a few minutes previously. The next time we are tempted to tell someone he or she is wrong, let's remember old Socrates and ask a gentle question – a question that will get the yes, yes response. An old Chinese proverb says, "He who treads softly goes far."

6) Let the other person do a great deal of the talking.

Most people trying to win others to their way of thinking do too much talking themselves. Let the other person talk themselves out. They know more about their business and problems than you do. So, ask them questions. Let them tell you a few things. If you can manage to be a good listener, this allows the person to weigh both sides themselves, which leads to the next principle.

LEARNING CENTER

7) Let the other person feel that the idea is his or hers.

Have you seen the movie Inception? Inception is a movie based on this principle. For an idea to take hold, it must come from within the person. No one likes to feel that he or she is being sold something or told to do a thing. We much prefer to feel that we are buying of our own accord or acting on our own ideas. If you give someone information to digest on their own, they may well sell themselves on your idea rather than you selling it to them.

8) Try honestly to see things from the other person's point of view.

Remember that other people may be totally wrong. But they don't think so. Don't condemn them. Any fool can do that. Try to understand them. Only wise, tolerant, exceptional people even try to do that. Tomorrow, before asking anyone to do anything, why not pause and close your eyes and try to think the whole thing through from another person's point of view? Ask yourself "Why should he or she want to do it?" True, this will take time, but it will avoid making enemies and will get better results.

9) Be sympathetic with the other person's ideas and desires.

Wouldn't you like to have a magic phrase that would stop arguments, eliminate ill feelings, create good will, and make the other person listen attentively? Here it is: I don't blame you one iota for feeling as you do. If I were you I would undoubtedly feel just as you do." Sympathy for their point of view will naturally lead to sympathy for your point of view.

10) Appeal to the nobler motives.

A person usually has two reasons for doing a thing: one that sounds good and a real one. The person himself will think of the real reason. You don't need to emphasize that. But all of us, being idealists at heart, like to think of motives that sound good. So, to change people, appeal to the nobler motives. For example, there was a famous person who had a picture he did not want published. Instead of writing a letter saying do not publish that picture because I don't like it, he asked that it please not be published, because his mother didn't like it. Appealing to that nobler cause, he got what he wanted, and the picture was no longer published.

11) Dramatize your ideas.

Merely stating a truth isn't enough. The truth must be made vivid, interesting, dramatic. You must use showmanship. A woman wanted to discuss problems at work with her boss. She kept asking the secretary for an available time but heard nothing. Finally, she wrote a formal letter, stating she knew her boss was very busy but that it was important that she speak with her boss. She enclosed a self-addressed envelope with a form letter that had blanks for a date and time to meet. She left the letter with his secretary at 11AM and had a response at 2PM that he could meet that afternoon for 10 minutes. They met for an hour and resolved the problems.

12) Throw down a challenge.

Charles Schwab had a mill manager whose people weren't producing their quota of work. Just before the night shift came on, he asked how many heats their shift had done. The answer was six and he wrote six with chalk on the floor. The night shift came in, heard what had occurred, and worked to do seven, replacing the chalk six with a seven. This back and forth continued until the mill began turning out more work than any other plant. What every successful person loves is the game. The chance for self-expression. The chance to prove his or her worth, to excel, to win.

If you follow these principles, you will be well on your way to winning people to your way of thinking. Next quarter, we will move on to the last theme, Be a Leader.
